DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on March 5 2007. These drawings are acceptable.
2. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: 512S (Figure 6B). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 22 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jeffrey (U.S. Patent No. 5,957,897) in view of Pearson et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,658,259).

Jeffrey discloses a hollow needle applicator having an applicator body (111), a piston assembly, a force applying actuator (145), and a provision for automatic needle retraction comprising spring means (123). The force applying actuator has at least one force transmitting part (145G) which provides a coupling with the piston assembly. The piston assembly comprises a piston (130), a hollow piston rod (132), and a triggering means (160). As to claim 24, the piston rod has driven extension parts (138) and the triggering means comprises a slidable collar. Jeffrey discloses the applicator substantially as claimed. However, Jeffrey is silent on the piston being deformable. Pearson et al disclose a hollow needle applicator with a deformable "nipple-type" piston (28) in the same field of endeavor of applicator for administering a fluid from a cartridge. It should be noted that the parent patent application cited by Pearson et al in line 34 of column 4 discloses the piston as being made from a deformable material. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the piston of Jeffrey from a deformable material as taught by Pearson et al as Pearson et al teach that it is well known to use a deformable piston in a hollow needle applicator to allow for expelling substantially all the fluid from the cartridge, thus leading to more accurate delivery of the required dose to the patient and to less wastage of the fluid in the cartridge.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 23 and 25 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 22 and 24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
